Auto Insurance Canceling Policy Is Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate probe of the auto insurance industry has resulted in a stream of complaints from car owners, charging their policies were canceled for odd, vague or flimsy reasons—including alleged bad "personal habits."

In one instance a man was denied coverage on grounds he gambled and raised gamecocks.

Another policy was cancelled because: "Your wife's reputation does not meet our underwriting standards."

The Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee will delve into such cases at a public hearing next month, with the centerpiece the troubles of Gerald D. Huey of Stafford, Va.

Huey learned Feb. 19 his policy would not be renewed by Royal Indemnity Co. "because of unfavorable information we have received concerning personal habits within your household."

He got another policy, but it was canceled without explanation.

"Scores of similar cases came to our attention," said subcommittee Chairman Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. Dean E. Sharp, assistant counsel to the panel, said the complaints are still coming.

Several auto insurance cancellations stirred controversy in recent months. One man, whose home had been visited by an insurance company representative, received a cancellation notice which said "It is alleged that your house is filthy."

A cab driver who lost his policy was told by the company: "The specific reason for refusal cannot be given as it is regarded as confidential."

Another protest comes from a man at Big Stone Gap, Va., whose son was involved in an accident. The other driver was ruled at fault. Both cars were insured by the same company.

The father refused a $190 settlement, and again rejected an offer of $750. Finally, the claim was settled for $1,500.

Then, on Jan. 4, 1968, this notice arrived: "Your automobile insurance is being terminated because of your lack of cooperation and assistance in settlement of your claim . . ."

While reasons for cancellation vary, investigators have found many are issued after a company receives reports about the reputation or habits of a driver or his family.

Noise Probe

LANSING (AP) — A resolution to investigate noise has been approved by the House. It proposes a five-man committee be granted $2,500 to investigate the possible threat to the general public health of industrial, automobile, airplane, advertising or other noises.

A GLASS DOOR at the Racine Police Department headquarters was broken by demonstrators Wednesday afternoon, shortly before Mayor Kenneth Huck imposed a 48-hour curfew on the city. At least three policemen and several other persons were injured in disturbances, centered on a new recreation center for Racine Negroes. About 22 persons were arrested. (AP Wirephoto)

Move To Tack Parochial Aid Issue To School Aid Bill

LANSING (AP) — A bill hiking Gov. William Milliken's $844.58 million public school aid recommendation by $456,000 today awaited Senate action amid speculation that the House might try to tack on parochial funds.

"I have no doubt that there will be an effort to attach parochial aid to school aid," said Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley. "There remains a 50-50 chance this (Senate) body will take parochial aid in any form."

Speaker William Ryan, D-

Detroit, an outspoken advocate of state aid to private and parochial schools, said, however, that a decision on adding parochial aid to the state aid bill had not yet been made.

Three Decisions Ryan said the House must decide: Whether to work with the Senate version of the school House proposed measure; how much money to include; and whether to try for passage of the separate parochial aid bill or hitch it to the school aid measure.

"We have those three decisions to make—and none have been made yet," Ryan said.

"We have to keep our options open," he added. "I don't know which method is the wisest."

Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Charles O. Zoller, R-Benton Harbor, meanwhile, said that if the House added funds for parochial aid to the school aid bill, "we'll take it off—for the same reason we didn't raise the level of school spending. We just don't have the extra money."

Differential Milliken had urged a hold-the-line approach in his budget message, calling for speedy passage of his suggested $85 million increase in school funds over the current year's spending.

Milliken also promised to name a special study commission which would recommend education reform for the state. The Legislature will act on such recommendations sometime after September, the governor said.

The appropriations committee proposal totals $845,041 million.

His chief defense counsel, Grant B. Cooper, estimated Thursday that an appeal of the conviction and sentence would take at least a year. The trial lasted nearly 16 weeks.

Meanwhile, Kenneth Hahn, a Los Angeles County supervisor, said the case to date cost taxpayers $910,634. The defense called his figures inflated.

Selfridge Plane Crashes In Field

Chinese Red Congress Ends

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party's ninth congress has ended in Peking with no surprises.

Mao Tse-tung continues to reign as party chairman, and his chosen successor, Defense Minister Lin Biao, is still vice chairman with the added designation of Mao's heir.

Some details of the 24-day meeting were broadcast by Radio Peking and the official China News Agency after the close of the congress Thursday.

It was the first congress since 1956 and lasted about twice as long as the last one. Most of the time apparently was spent reshaping the top echelons of the party, many of whose leaders were purged during the so-called cultural revolution Mao launched in 1966.

Of the 97 members and 99 alternates elected to the party's ruling Central Committee at the 1956 congress, only a handful survived the purge in which President Liu Shao-chi and other "counterrevolutionary revisionists" were ousted.

The ninth congress replaced the old committee with an expanded body studied with military leaders, old and young revolutionaries, and "Proletarian fighters."

From this small start, the group hopes to gather some 350,000 signatures on a petition to put their proposal on the 1970 election ballot.

Police said the small town's evacuation was due to noxious fumes coming from another pile of eight cars in the middle of the community. There was no fire there but some cars of flammable substances were emitting gases.

The railroad asked the state fire marshal's help in recruiting local fire departments in east central Indiana to fight the blaze.

Railroad officials brought bills of lading to the town to check the contents of the wrecked cars. Most contained only harmless merchandise.

an 11 per cent increase over the present year, Zoller said.

The measure provides for an average pupil allotment of $377.50 for districts with state equalized value of $14,333 or more for each child and $549.50 in districts with less than that equalized value for each child, he said.

The existing formula has four ranging from a low of $348 to $499.75 per pupil.

"The basic formula pays more attention to the discrepancies between richer and poorer school districts," than does the governor's proposal, said Levin, a critic of the Milliken budget figure. "But it's still patchwork."

But, Levin added, the Senate proposal cuts Milliken's recommendation for remedial reading funds "in half" and lops $3 million off the governor's suggested appropriation for special education.

Zoller said he expected Senate action on the school aid bill Monday.

boost Federal Highway Aid

LANSING (AP) — Michigan counties will receive nearly $1.5 million extra in federal aid for secondary highways in the next fiscal year, the State Highway Department reports.

The additional funds will bring the county total to $6.91 million. The state will receive $3.85 million from the $10.76 million allocated to Michigan for the year starting July 1.

For One House Legislature

LANSING (AP) — A small group of Lansing-area taxpayers, working out of their homes and using wives as clerical help, wants to abolish Michigan's state Senate.

The citizens of Michigan Tax Relief Committee now claims 120 dues-paying members.

Co-chairmen are John Barany, a drug salesman, and Vincent Gieske, an insurance executive, both of Lansing.

"We are a grass roots movement and entirely nonpartisan," Barany said Wednesday. "We want to see if enough people are interested in the idea of a unicameral (one house) Legislature."

State Assembly From this small start, the group hopes to gather some 350,000 signatures on a petition to put their proposal on the 1970 election ballot.

In Office Four Months

Lebanon's Premier Quits

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Premier Rashid Karami met today with President Charles Helou and told newsmen afterward Helou had accepted his resignation. He hedged when asked if the president would ask him to form a new Cabinet but he urged that a coalition government be formed.

Karami resigned Thursday night after four months in office, saying the country was split over whether Lebanon should become a base for Arab guerrilla action against Israel.

Karami was asked after his visit to Helou if the president would tap him again. He replied:

"The question (of the guerrillas) is now more important than personalities. It concerns the future and fate of the entire country. There must be cooperation between all persons."

Demand Full Support

With the country tense after two days of rioting in which 16 persons have been killed and nearly 100 wounded, Karami told a special session of Parliament that some persons advised him to give unqualified support to the Palestinian guerrillas. He said others had warned such support would provoke Israeli reprisals.

The rioters were mostly Palestinian refugees demanding that the government give full support to the Arab guerrilla organizations which have been raiding Israel. Karami said he had tried to help the guerrillas without endangering Lebanon's security. Despite pressure from the 160,000 refugees in the country, the government generally has tried to avoid involvement in the Arab-Israeli fighting.

The crisis threatened to cause a major split between Lebanon's Moslem and Christian communities, which are roughly equal in size and divided the posts of political leadership according to a detailed formula.

Under Curfew Karami, a 47-year-old Moslem, was serving his eighth term as premier. He took over in January from Abdullah Yafi, who resigned under the storm of protest that followed Israel's attack on the Beirut airport. That attack was made in retaliation for an attack on an Israeli airliner in Athens by Arab commandos who Israel said were based in Lebanon. Since then the government has kept a close watch on the Lebanese-Israeli border and refused to let its territory be used as a base for commando attacks.

Beirut and other major cities were under curfew, and the 15,000-man army patrolled the streets and refugee camps.

Police said 120 persons were under arrest after the riots, and that they were hunting leaders of banned leftist parties who were suspected of inciting violence.

Segregation Is Weakening In South: Panetta

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the face of Democratic charges of weakness, wavering and confusion, one of President Nixon's top civil rights enforcers insists Southern resistance to school desegregation is weakening.

"There's much less now. In fact there is a great willingness in most cases," said Leon E. Panetta. "In the period before I took over we were getting a lot. It didn't crumble like everyone thought it would."

Panetta heads the Office of Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He also said since the administration's initial action against five Southern school districts in February he has been subjected to no personal pressure from the one man widely said to feel betrayed, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

The 30-year-old lawyer, who looks something like a horn-rimmed version of entertainer Danny Thomas, took over his post March 29, replacing Ruby Martin, a Negro who spurned Republican blandishments to stay on. She contended the enforcement program was vacillating.

Panetta also said problems came from the widespread faith that had grown up in the guidelines put out by the Johnson administration to explain the provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It is from this act that Panetta gets his authority to cut off federal funds to school districts failing to desegregate voluntarily.

Tech Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Technological University at Houghton, Mich., has been awarded a $375,522 federal grant for construction of a $1.9 million heating and power plant. The grant, authorized under the Higher Education Facilities Act, was approved Thursday by the Office of Education.

Barany said since the 1964 U.S. Supreme Court decision that both the Senate and House should be apportioned on the same one-man, one-vote basis, the Senate no longer serves a useful purpose.

Nebraska currently is the only state among the 50 to have a one-house system.

Save Millions More than $2 million a year could be saved in salaries now paid to senators and their aides, secretaries and other help, Barany said.

"Millions of dollars could be saved by the duplication of effort in the House and Senate," he said.

Barany said his group also is opposed to a new capitol that could cost up to $70 million when the interest costs are figured over a five-year construction period.

"After we get our first 5,000 petition signatures," he promised, "we're going to ask some court for a restraining order to stop plans for going ahead with the new capitol."

"We can't figure out why only one contractor was consulted and 13 foreign countries had to be visited to come up with the present capitol design," he added.

DeGaulle Asks Public Support

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle recorded a seven-minute address to be broadcast to the nation tonight in hopes of reversing the tide of public opinion threatening him with defeat in Sunday's constitutional referendum.

He arranged his affairs so that he will be at his home in Colombey-les-Deux-eglises in eastern France during the broadcast and during the balloting. This meant he would not have to return to Paris in the event of defeat.

"Advantage to the No's" said the headline on the report of one opinion poll. "Sounding Shows No's in the Lead," said another.

It was the first time since DeGaulle became president in 1958 that pre-election polls indicated he would lose. The unfavorable indicators included two taken by traditional Gaudlist optimists — the government and the conservative newspaper LeFigaro.

Figaro gave the opposition 53 per cent but said 34 per cent of the voters were still undecided. De Gaulle's task was to counteract the apathy widespread among that group and bring the unconcerned or undecided out to vote for him.

The official issue in the referendum is establishment of regional governments and removal of what little power the national senate has left. But the 78-year-old general made the vote into another plebiscite on his rule by saying he would quit if the referendum proposals were voted down.

De Gaulle's big problem seems to be that many middle-of-the-road Frenchmen no longer believe a whirlwind of confusion and anarchy would follow the old man's departure.

Soviet Troops To Withdraw

BELGRADE (AP) — A schedule for the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Czechoslovakia will be announced within the next six weeks, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported today.

Quoting "usually well informed sources," the agency said the announcement will be published simultaneously in Prague and Moscow prior to the world Communist conference set to open in Moscow June 5.

The announcement would demonstrate Soviet support for the new Czechoslovak leadership and stimulate what Moscow calls "normalization of the situation in Czechoslovakia," the report added.

It added that announcement of prospective troop withdrawals is expected to improve the prospect for Communist bloc overtures to the West.

In Prague, the new leadership served notice today it will not tolerate opposition within the Communist party ranks.

Bay NBC Outlet Gets FCC Okay For Channel 3

GREEN BAY — WFRV-TV has received approval from the Federal Communications Commission to construct a satellite station to serve the Upper Peninsula of Michigan with off-the-air NBC and local programming.

FCC approval means that for the first time more than 50,000 homes in the Upper Peninsula will be able to view NBC and WFRV-TV programming without need for a community antenna system or private household antenna or booster systems.

The new satellite station, expected to be in operation on Channel 3 in late summer or early fall, will provide service to Escanaba, Marquette, Iron Mountain, Munising and Manistique, with Escanaba as its base of operation.

South Of Trenary

WFRV-TV Vice President and General Manager Robert O. Southard welcomed FCC approval, saying "It has long been our desire to provide off-air service to the residents of Upper Michigan and bring them NBC programming and local news."

Harry Hill, WFRV-TV chief engineer, said the transmitter for the new Channel 3 Escanaba will be located 4.3 miles south of Trenary in Delta County.

"We will erect a 1,252 foot tower," Hill said "and broadcast with 100,000 watts of video power and 20,000 watts of audio power." Hill said it will be necessary to erect a transmitter building on the site to house the transmitting equipment and to provide a staff of at least three engineers to man the station.

$250,000 Investment

Southard set initial cost of the new Escanaba station at $250,000. He said that equipment for the new station is being ordered immediately and that construction of the transmitter building and tower "will start as soon as we can get the contractors on the scene. And we will do everything in our power to get the station on the air just as soon as humanly possible."

The satellite transmitter south of Trenary and one mile east off U.S. 41 will put a "city grade" signal into Escanaba, Gladstone and other nearby communities, said Southard. He said he expected availability of off-the-air (without cable or translator relay) National Broadcasting Co. TV programs from local transmitter at the satellite station would increase the use of portable TV sets "So the parents won't have to fight the kids" and can watch two different TV shows at the same time.

On Cable, Translators The NBC programs on the satellite will continue to be available to cable TV systems and translator stations in the area, said Southard and should improve their offerings because the quality of the signal will be improved by the local transmission, especially for color programs.

WFRV-TV won't originate any programs at the satellite station. WFRV is an all-color TV station and has stringer photographers in the U.P., said Southard. He said he hopes to increase their number to improve coverage of the area. They send their film to Green Bay for processing and telecasting. The process is very expensive, said Southard and works best with centralization.

He said that WLUC-TV, Channel 6 at Marquette carries only "three or four" NBC programs a week and is basically a CBS station, although it carries all three networks. It uses more programs from ABC than from NBC, said Southard.

Microwave Relay

WFRV will construct a microwave relay system to move TV programs from its Green Bay transmitter to the Delta County satellite near Trenary. It uses a microwave system to bring the signal from Milwaukee to Green Bay.

Channel 3 had been allocated to Escanaba for a television station. It has not been used for lack of a local station. Northern

P&H And W. German Firm Pool Hydraulic Interests

Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee and Orenstein-Koppel Ag, Dortmund, Germany will manufacture certain types of each other's hydraulic construction lines under terms of a reciprocal license agreement announced today.

In addition, each of the two companies has agreed to acquire an equity position in the other. President Henry Harnischfeger, commenting on the significance of the cross licensing to the Wisconsin company, said: "This move will further enhance our competitive strength in the hydraulic equipment field, which is the fastest growing segment of the world market for construction machinery."

"OKA is a leader in this field," he said "and their know-how in hydraulic components, as well as hydraulic construction and mining product lines, will enable us to manufacture and market a broad range of models in a fraction of the time that it would take us if we had to develop them from scratch."

Harnischfeger added that "Following a global manufacturing and marketing concept, we found that both product lines complement each other, giving contractors around the world access to a very complete line of a new generation of hydraulic construction equipment. In short, this agreement allows each company to take advantage of the most advanced concepts of both American and European technology."

Orenstein-Koppel is a prominent West Germany company widely known for its manufacturing of heavy construction and other equipment. Harnischfeger, one of the country's 500 largest corporations, is a leading builder of construction and mining equipment and industrial cranes and hoists. During the past several years it has been a primary innovator in the application of hydraulic power to cranes and excavators.

Jury Awards Couple $33,130

A Gladstone couple was awarded damages totaling $33,130 by a 12-member jury Thursday in Circuit Court.

Eugene and Bernadette Verhamme, 581 N. 16th St., received the judgment from Oliver and Mary Anderson of Rapid River after the jury deliberated about two hours, 45 minutes on testimony entered in the two-day trial before Judge Bernard H. Davidson.

The Verhammes asked damages from the Andersons as a result of an auto accident in July, 1966, at the intersection of U. S. 2 and 41 and 6th Ave. in Gladstone.

The jury awarded Eugene Verhamme $28,130. His wife was awarded $5,000. Verhamme testified he lost substantial use of his left hand as a result of injuries suffered in the accident.

Trial of the case began Wednesday with Attorney Clair Hoehn representing the Verhammes and Attorney James Fitzharris representing the Andersons. The verdict was returned about 8:30 p. m. Thursday.

Members of the jury were Marilyn Stacey, Robert Jacke, Arvid Bosk, Eileen Cahill of Escanaba, Sherman Reese of Baldwin Township, Pearl Larson of Bay de Now Township, Christine Bodjanic of Ford River, Alphonse LaCasse of Garden, Gertrude K. Hayes of Maple Ridge Township, Rudolph Groleau of Nahma, and Lois Livermore of Wells.

He was a member of the Seafarers International Union.

Survivors include his parents; grandparents, Rufus Spaulding of Garden and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bush of Manistique; two brothers, Neil and Robert, and two sisters, Joann and Ruth, all at home.

Senate Approves Security Council

LANSING (AP) — The Senate did an about-face Thursday and passed a previously defeated measure directing the governor and other state officials to meet at least once a month to study crime and social unrest in Michigan.

Approved 21-7 was a proposal by Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, that sets up a State Internal Security Council.

The measure failed 17-12 earlier this month after opponents called it "useless" and "meaningless."

"I don't think the Legislature has any business telling the executives when they must meet," objected Sen. Harry Demaso, R-Battle Creek.

Kuhn cited the "two tragic riots" in Detroit in 1943 and 1967 and said there was a "serious and great need for this type of council. The problem is like an iceberg," he said. "You can only see the part above the water."

Meet Monthly
A security council, he suggested, would see "the part of the iceberg that's under the water."

Kuhn's measure calls on the governor, the lieutenant governor, State Police Director, chief of the Department of Military Affairs and the attorney general to meet at least monthly.

They would hear reports on "crime and social unrest manifestations from throughout the state," analyze crime patterns and forms of social unrest and make recommendations relative to the problems.

Also approved—after a good-natured tussle for "aye" votes—was a bill providing for the refund of filing fees to successful candidates for county supervisors posts.

At first count, there was a spate of "no" votes—switched later—following an old senate tradition that calls for "defeat" of the first legislation proposed by a freshman senator.

Chief sponsor of the supervisors measure was Sen. Alvin DeGroot, R-Pigeon, who last fall won the Senate seat left vacant by the retirement of Sen. Frank Beadle, R-St. Clair.

In a recount of Senate votes, the measure passed 35-0 and DeGroot told colleagues he "appreciated having been taken into your club."

Passed 34-0 and sent to the House was a bill allowing claimants receiving workmen's compensation to recover property damages from the motor vehicle accident claims fund.

The House, meanwhile, delayed final action on a bill that would change the maximum rate of interest on margin loans by investment brokers. Michigan currently has 7 per cent interest ceiling, but the bill now before the house would raise the allowable rate to 10 per cent annually for loans backed by listed stocks and bonds.

The House moved into position for final action on other bills including two that would: —Restrict sale of hypodermic needles except by registered pharmacists. —Allow the State Treasury Department to keep 2 per cent of income taxes collected for contracting cities.

Rising Costs Trap Economists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government economist who interprets the consumer price index is having a tough time explaining why living costs keep soaring despite his repeated predictions that control of inflation is just around the corner.

The man most frequently caught in the middle in the exact science of predicting price behavior is Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics in charge of price reports.

Chase's difficulties, however, pale into insignificance when compared to the potential for political trouble posed by rising living costs for President Nixon.

Predicts Turnabout

Nixon made Democratic failure to control of inflation an issue during last fall's campaign. Since he took office in January, prices have risen at an annual rate of 6 per cent, considerably higher than 1968's increase of 4.8 per cent, sharpest yearly jump in 18 years.

Economist Chase began predicting a turnabout six months ago, and he's still forecasting a slow down.

Chips Away Dollar

"It is safe to say the peak of the inflationary surge is past," said the optimistic Chase last October—only to see his hopes dashed away the very next month by a price increase of six-tenths of one per cent, biggest surge for one month in six years.

Since that unfortunate prediction by the usually cautious Chase, living costs have climbed another 2.7 per cent and clipped another 3.4 cents from the value of the dollar.

"We have turned the corner," said Chase in November—and prices promptly went up another four-tenths of one per cent.

In December prices rose only two-tenths, smallest increase of 1968, but Chase declined to go along with some other economists who predicted a slower rate of inflation in 1969.

He recovered some of his optimism, however, after a rise of three-tenths in January. "There is some slowing down," he said, observing, along with some other federal economists, that the income surtax and other monetary restraints should further slow the pace.

But the price index showed another rise of four-tenths in February. "The effects of the fiscal restraints have been delayed longer than most people expected," Chase explained.

Then, on Thursday, the March report showed an eight-tenths rise in prices—biggest single monthly jump in 18 years.

"The fire will just have to burn itself out and I am confident it will do so," said Chase. "The rate of increase will begin to slow down in the next few months."

Proposes Probe Of Dock Thefts

LANSING (AP) — A Republican state legislator wants to "beat criminals to the docks," this spring via a study of cargo pilferage at lake ports.

Rep. Edgar Gerlings, R-Muskegon, introduced a resolution calling for a seven-member House committee investigation of the amount of pilferage and other criminal damage to cargo.

"Methods must be devised which will reduce pilferage and its additional cost of goods to the ultimate consumer and a review of the legal problems involved should be undertaken," said the resolution.

Five states—California, Colorado, South Dakota, Alaska and Nevada — have yielded more than 75 per cent of the gold produced in the United States.

Prison's Harm Equals Its Good: Harrison

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's prisons do just as much harm as good and probably more, state corrections director Gus Harrison told the House Judiciary Committee Thursday.

"A lot of people have the notion that prisons rehabilitate. Places like Jackson (the state prison of Southern Michigan) and Marquette do just as much harm as good," Harrison said.

Harrison told the committee that a package of bills aiming to set tougher mandatory minimum prison sentences would not reduce crime or deter the people most likely to commit crime.

The people who do commit crime, Harrison said, don't think about the penalties for their acts even if they know what those penalties are.

"A paradox in this business is that those sentenced for sex offenses or murder will do far better off if released to society than those committed to us for property offenses," Harrison said.

Some 50 separate bills have been introduced by Rep. E.D. O'Brien, D-Detroit. O'Brien said the measures, which he introduced last year as well, attempt to strike at habitual criminals, "the kind he (Harrison) never sees at all—who are released to roam the streets."

Harrison told the committee of 14 persons that Michigan's house felons are within 100 beds of maximum capacity and should reach that point this summer.

$11 A Day
Conditions in Michigan's prisons, Harrison said, together with stiffer sentences being handed down by judges, work against inmate rehabilitation programs.

It costs as much as $11 a day to keep one man at the Marquette Prison, Harrison said, but only $200 a year to put him on probation.

Half-way houses run by church and social groups, court probation and prison parole are the best ways to deal with convicts, Harrison said, and prison is the worst.

"The real answer is keeping them from getting into trouble. Giving us the money is not really the answer."

"Provide a realistic education. Most people don't know and don't care what the penalties for crime are."

Michigan's Problems

Gov. William Milliken told a Detroit Economic Club audience in a thoughtful speech that there are four crises in Michigan State government.

We have become so accustomed to "crises" in government that four more of them don't seem to raise any great public alarm, but the ones that Milliken cites are not minor nor transient. They are deep, difficult problems that pose serious danger to the state. They call for the understanding of every citizen and for a new willingness to help solve them.

Our school financing problem isn't being solved. Michigan is spending $1 billion more every year for kindergarten-through-12th grade schooling than it did six years ago, but some school districts still face financial disaster. And, worse, the state hasn't achieved anything like equal educational opportunities for all its children.

Milliken said that unless there's educational reform the Legislature can pump out a lot more millions to meet this year's demands and be right back next year with the familiar shortages and the familiar shortcomings of the school system.

Racism is now a double bitted axe chopping up public good will in Michigan. We still have the white racism that held the blacks in subjection for so long and now we have a black racism born of the subjection. Michigan law guarantees equal opportunities but they don't exist in employment anymore than they do in education or in housing.

The people demand more government services, the Governor said, but the years of financing them isn't in sight, and the state looks to Washington for rescue. The Economic Club membership isn't very friendly toward big government, but Milliken spoke favorably of bills now in Congress which would transfer welfare costs to the federal government by 1973. (This only makes these costs more expensive, of course, but it by-passes the necessity for local approval of big spending and Washington wrings the taxpayer's neck like a chicken to get the taxes.)

And these crises create the ultimate crisis; a public loss of confidence in our institutions — educational, governmental and corporate. This is the most serious crisis of all, of course, and the social sickness most difficult to correct.

Milliken says that our people are frustrated by all the government bureaus and the impersonality of our institutions and that they feel alienated from the sources of power. He urged the businessmen to help convince the citizens that government is their own agency for control and deserves their moral and material support.

It is a proper sermon for all the state's people. It is a reminder from an earnest, able young man in high government office that government today in this country is under many demands that it cannot satisfy fully for everyone. We have so much that we expect everything — and immediately. We have unprecedented communications and they bring us a torrent of information that bewilders as it informs.

Our industrial economy grinds out goods and riches in unprecedented abundance and we quarrel about their distribution and it makes us unhappy in a way that our grandparents — who had so much less — weren't unhappy. Natural laws work to take away our increased income and we think that something is wrong, although we gripe most of all about school costs and we are spending less of our income on schools, proportionately, than we used to.

We should be concerned about the heritage that we leave our children. We used to think that America was invincible and now we can't lick little Vietnam (helped by Russia and China) nor can we extricate ourselves from the war. We are awakening to the understanding that it would be much better to leave our children a nation less rich in material things and richer in human values. We have organized ourselves into pressure groups to force demands upon the government, upon employers, upon the schools, the public and what-not. Force creates a countervailing force. Life becomes a maelstrom.

Yankee Go Home

On the face of it, the Hickenlooper Amendment to the foreign aid laws seems logical.

The amendment requires the United States to cut off foreign aid to any government which does not pay fair compensation six months after it expropriates the property or facilities of U.S. businesses.

In practice, as shown by the current imbroglio with Peru, what the amendment really does is paint the United States into a corner.

In this case, the dispute is over Peru's seizure of the facilities of the International Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey — in particular, the exact amount of the reimbursement and a claim of $690 million against the company for its "illegal enrichment" at the expense of Peru over the past 40 years or so.

A recent appeal by 135 American religious and lay volunteers working with the Peruvian people stated:

"The Hickenlooper Amendment . . . cutting off all aid to Peru, is unwise in its automatic aspects and ignores the particular situation, state of mind and needs of developing countries . . . United States aid, which should be given as a matter of simple justice instead of being tied to narrow United States corporate or national interests, would better be channeled through international agencies."

The United States is reaping in Latin America the consequences of decades of devotion to the principle that "the business of America is business." In turn, the military junta now in power in Peru is riding the crest of popular revulsion against "Yankee imperialism."

By ruling that the process for reconciling the dispute has not been exhausted, the Nixon administration has bought a few more months' time before the aid cutoff is to be applied.

"Why Not? We've Tried Everything Else!"

DDT Bugs Scientists

By NOEL GROVE

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The "Silent Spring" of the late Rachel Carson in 1962 is turning into a noisy clamor over pesticides in Madison, Wis., in 1969.

With a battery of scientists testifying against the use of certain strong pesticides, and some members of the U. S. Senate supporting them, even the Department of Agriculture acknowledges that the Madison hearings could be DDT's Dien Bien Phu, or at least the Normandy beachhead for the conservationists.

Sought in Madison by a private group called the Environmental Defense Fund is a statewide ban against the use of DDT. (Neighboring Michigan has already moved to ban the sale of DDT.) If achieved, both sides agree it could have widespread effects on the nationwide use of the pesticide, long under attack by conservationists who claim it is infiltrating earth's total environment and threatening animal productivity.

Arrayed against them are strong farm groups and farm chemical companies, who say the harmful effects of DDT are exaggerated and that banning it would raise food prices considerably.

"It is my opinion that the retail cost of fruits and vegetables would increase by 50 per cent or more with a substantial restriction in pesticide use," said Duane Baldwin, president of the Michigan Agricultural Conference. "Animal products would very soon increase drastically in price as the cost of feed for milk and meat animals advanced."

"We're not antipesticide," said Dr. Charles Wurster of the University of New York at Stony Brook, a member of the Environmental Defense Fund (EDF). "We're opposing the more 'persistent' ones such as DDT. There are plenty of pesticides that can be used effectively in its place."

"Persistence" in pesticides means those chemicals which retain their potency indefinitely. Therein lies the complaint about the chlorinated hydrocarbons of which DDT is a member.

DDT residue has been found in cow's milk, fruits and, in one celebrated case, in salmon. Sprayed on a field or city park to kill insects, its residues can be washed by rain into a lake and remain there for 10 years.

Taken in by a fish, which may then be eaten by a bird of prey, it then becomes an active residue within the bird. What happens to the bird was part of EDF's scientific presentation in earlier hearings in Madison this year, in linking DDT residue with the decreased reproductive capabilities of birds of prey.

The implication was too pat to even need mentioning. Humans eat fish, too, as well as drink milk and eat fruit.

Those seeking the DDT ban have already presented their case in Madison in hearings that began in December, with DDT defenders following this month.

Wisconsin became a natural testing ground for the campaign against the chemical for a number of reasons. A 1943 Wisconsin statute allows a private citizen to petition a state agency for a ruling on how, or whether, laws and regulations which that agency administrators apply to a particular question.

The question in this case is whether or not DDT is a harmful pollutant. The regulation under which it would be banned is the state's Water Quality Standards.

Contract Bridge

1. To make sure of the contract you continue with a low club from dummy! This guards against the possibility of South's having A-10-x-x, which is the only threat to the contract. It assures three club winners and at least nine tricks. If South wins with the ten and returns a low diamond, you play the eight and are in complete command of the situation. You cannot be stopped from winning three clubs and two tricks in each of the other suits.

If you made the more normal play of the king of clubs at trick three, instead of a low club, South would duck with a holding of four to the A-10. You would then find yourself in hot water and, unless you got very lucky, would eventually go down one.

2. Win the spade with the ace, draw the adverse trumps,

The ban has strong support from Wisconsin's Democratic Senator Gaylord Nelson, who led off testimony in December in support of EDF's case. And although strong opposition to the ban comes from the farm community, some Wisconsin dairymen have had negative experiences with DDT, when the residue showed up in the milk and made it unmarketable.

But the powerful Farm Bureau Federation has come down strongly against the ban, as have other area farm groups. Most farmers see the Madison hearings as the opening gun in a continuing war on pesticides. Farmers claim the largely urban population of today is ignorant of current farming methods, which require large use of chemicals in efficient food production. The average American spends only 18 per cent of his after-tax income for food, compared to 27 per cent by Englishmen, 38 by Germans, 43 by Italians and 50 per cent by Russians. Chemicals, they say, account for much of the difference.

Turning to less persistent pesticides will not solve the food cost problem, they argue, since the less-persistent chemicals are more expensive to buy and must be applied more often, thus increasing production costs.

The conservationists are unimpressed. "It is probably true that production costs would increase for the time being and would be passed on to food consumers," said one of them. "But you get down to the question: 'What price the environment?'"

Improving the opportunities of all men is a fine thing and must be worked at. But how can those in the big city slums find these opportunities in education, business and better living conditions if there is no safety for father, mother, teen or child?

Retired railway artisan Louis Boshoff, 64, had hooked the big fish from the shore and was playing it when it jerked him off his ledge among some rocks. He landed on a reef exposed by the low tide and lost the rod. Boshoff injured his leg and as he could not climb 1,000 feet to the top of the cliff a boat took him off.

Note that on the fourth spade lead the proper discard from dummy is a diamond, not a heart. Discarding a heart would put you in the position where you might have to gauge the diamond position correctly or go down. Discarding the diamond is better because it offers an additional chance for the contract.

BUNGLED JOB
 LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (P)—A bank clerk in the small palm-fringed city of Inhambane who was suspended from his job went to the local mortuary and tried to commit suicide with a pistol. As he pulled the trigger he fainted and collapsed among the corpses. The bullet hit the ceiling instead of the clerk's head and he was taken to hospital suffering from shock.

Poor Victims Of Urban Crime

By RAY CROMLEY
 WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A motorist stopped at a filling station in the nation's capital the other afternoon for gasoline and directions.

When no one came out to serve him, the driver—a friend of this reporter—walked over to the office and peered through the locked door. Three attendants—all blacks—waited there. One held a gun in his hand.

Before an attendant would come out, the customer had to show his credit card through the window. One man came out to fill the tank; the other two remained inside with the gun.

This somewhat dramatic story is related here to underline a fact sometimes nearly drowned in the cries for "law and order" from those who too comfortably assume that the desire for personal safety and property security is limited to one economic class or one race.

The fact is that most of the victims of urban crime are the poorer residents of our urban centers. And in most American cities that means Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans.

The other day in the Pentagon an elderly Negro employee, a poor man, told of having been beaten and robbed twice within the last eight months.

A Negro bank president said in an interview that he was having trouble finding new employees because of the rash of recent bank robberies in the District of Columbia.

Crime in the city doesn't affect only the personal safety of ghetto residents. It holds back economic progress and cuts into community services.

In a Washington newspaper one day there's a proud announcement by the Small Business Administration of the establishment of a new Negro business in the heart of the city, an encouragement to others to found their own establishments. A few days later, this same newspaper shows a picture of that same business, robbed and looted, its store windows bashed in by a group of hoodlums. This was long after the April 1968 riots were over.

Commerce Department surveys report that many drug stores in blighted urban areas now close early because drugists fear to stay open after dark. Others are closing shop entirely. This leaves these communities without night emergency service. Negroes are heavy sufferers.

We are talking now about no abstract issue, but about the right of a man or woman, black or white, to walk home at night, to work in a bank, filling station or grocery store or operate a taxi or a bus without fear for his life.

There are some who contend that increased police action and stiffer court penalties will fail and that the only realistic course to cutting the crime rate is to make possible greater opportunities in education, business and better living conditions for disadvantaged minorities.

Improving the opportunities of all men is a fine thing and must be worked at.

But how can those in the big city slums find these opportunities in education, business and better living conditions if there is no safety for father, mother, teen or child?

TRUE FISH STORY
 CAPE TOWN, South Africa (P)—Somewhere in the sea off Cape Town is a large tuna towing several hundred feet of fishing line and an expensive rod.

Retired railway artisan Louis Boshoff, 64, had hooked the big fish from the shore and was playing it when it jerked him off his ledge among some rocks. He landed on a reef exposed by the low tide and lost the rod. Boshoff injured his leg and as he could not climb 1,000 feet to the top of the cliff a boat took him off.

He Ended Grandpa's Car Driving Days

Dear Ann Landers: Several days ago I bumped into my 84-year-old grandfather who was driving around the business section. He was lost, confused and unable to identify himself by name. He did not recognize me.

I finally persuaded him to let me get in his car and direct him to his home. I almost had a heart attack as I sat beside him. Twice he began to turn into a one-way street. He nearly hit a pedestrian and did not see a stop sign. All this within 15 minutes.

When we reached the house, I went in, took Grandpa aside and explained the situation. She became very upset when I suggested that Grandpa should not be driving—that he was endangering not only his life but the lives of others. Grandpa assured me that even though he has occasional lapses of memory, his mind is sharp as a tack.

After much soul searching I sat down and wrote a letter to the Chief of Public Safety. Five days later Grandpa received a letter saying he could no longer drive. The family asked me if I had tipped off the officials and I said yes. Now they are all mad at me. I'm a "traitor" and a "no good louse."

Will you please tell me if, in your opinion, I did the right thing?—Drummed Out of The Tribe

Dear Drummed: What you did took enormous courage and I salute you. It's too bad the state in which you live does not have mandatory periodic re-examinations for all drivers over 65. Get on the backs of your state legislators. The number of senile, half-blind, half-deaf drivers in this country would give you the screaming meemies.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope it isn't too late for a man to get in his nickel's worth about those "dead battery" couples who, after ten years of marriage, go completely dead.

If Myrtle and I wanted an excuse to cut back our sex life we would have some dandies. I work two jobs, a total of 14 hours a day—living proof that physical exhaustion is mostly mental. If a person wants to have enough energy after a hard day's work to make love, he'll manage it.

Myrtle runs after our five kids, takes care of a big house, does the washing, ironing and cooking, plus running errands for the in-laws. She has no outside help and doesn't want any.

But are we too tired for romance? Not on your tintype, Annie. Our batteries are equipped with booster cables called love and respect. Our love life, like wine, gets better with age.

I know I've rambled a lot so please cut this letter down but don't kill the message.—A Happy Man

Dear Man: Here's your letter—and the message is very much alive. Thanks for writing.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LIKE IT IS

It's the "in" thing to do. Beginning no doubt with a concept of honesty about the realities of life, telling it like it is has recently gone negative. Like a slogan for the free speech movement, telling it, is telling it ugly, dirty, chaotic, disorganized, or lawless. Telling it like this has, or had, lots of shock value.

But maintaining shock value has its problems too. As it was recently so well put in Reader's Digest, "The trouble with being 'in' these days is that you have to keep getting further out to do so." Or, "what can I say after I've said everything?"

There is even a deeper problem which results from "telling it ugly" loud enough and often enough. Things tend to get the way we tell them. If we keep saying, "reality is ugly; ugly is beautiful; ugly is truth; ugly it become? Who wants to take the chance?"

In his book, "Reality Therapy," Dr. Glasser tells his juvenile delinquent girls that they don't have to be good. Instead, he says, "Just act like you are." Result: They become good. Now, what if someone says, "You don't have to be wicked. Just act like it." Result? That's negative therapy.

Now that we've said, seen and heard just about everything negative, dirty, cruel, ugly, and shocking, let's turn it around for a while. Tell it like it's a little friendlier, prettier, tastier, cleaner; like it's looking up. Perhaps it will.

Lakes, Small Streams Top Trout Prospects

TANGLED TROUT QUEEN Judy Cavitch, 18, of Kalkaska, gags it up with a dandy backlash to remind fishermen of the traditional trout season opener Saturday. Miss Cavitch will reign over Kalkaska's 33rd annual National Trout Festival this weekend. (AP Wirephoto)

By DAVE ANDREWS

Inland lakes and smaller streams appeared to hold the best prospect for trout fishermen in the Upper Peninsula today on the eve of Michigan's general trout season opening Saturday.

Rainbow and brown trout have been legal on some streams since April 5, but anglers Saturday can go after brook trout, browns, rainbow and splake in almost all streams and lakes in the state.

The season opens officially at one minute after midnight.

Cliff Long, Escanaba district fish biologist, said that best success is expected from fishermen in trout lakes and small streams and creeks.

Water levels in the bigger rivers are still high, making fishing difficult, he said.

Mild Weather

The weather forecast for the Escanaba area calls for partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures throughout the weekend, although showers were listed this morning as possible both Saturday and Sunday.

Recent mild weather and the lack of major rainfall in the Upper Peninsula have combined to dry up most woods roads, improving accessibility of lakes and streams. Some snow still remains in heavily wooded areas, however, in northern parts of the Upper Peninsula.

There is one major change in fishing regulations this spring. Rainbow and brown trout taken must be at least 10 inches—up from the previous seven inches.

Brook trout still have a seven-inch minimum.

The creel limit for browns or rainbows is five of each or five combined. Five additional brook trout a day may be taken from streams only.

Stamp Needed

Fishermen are reminded that a combination trout and salmon stamp is required. The resident fishing license is $3.10 this year and the stamp costs an extra $2.10.

The largest concentration of fishermen in Delta County is expected in the northeast part of the county where Camp 7 Lake has been a popular opening day attraction in recent years. Other trout lakes in that area also are expected to draw fishermen.

Department of Natural Resources biologists agree that the recent pesticide fuss won't scare away any of the dedicated trout fishermen. Trout and most other fish landed in inland waters should contain well below the five parts per million of DDT set as the danger level by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

Briefly Told

The Special Educational advisory committee of the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate School District will meet Monday, May 5, at 7:30 p. m. at the Lakeside School in Manistiquette. Dr. Marvin Beekman, director of the special education division of the State Dept. of Education, Lansing, will be the speaker.

Thomas Schorman, 19, of Iron Mountain, was ordered to appear in District Court on charges of being a minor in possession of beer. State Police said he was arrested about 8:45 p. m. Thursday near the Escanaba River on U. S. 2 and 41.

State Police issued traffic summonses Thursday to James P. Hughes Jr., Rte. 1, Gladstone, failure to stop for stop sign; West Langdon, Whitehall, Mich., no Michigan registration plates; Gary St. John, Schaffers, speeding and Stanley Leuneburg, 617 S. 12th St., Escanaba, excessive muffler noise.

Has anyone "lost" five, 100-pound propane gas tanks. State Police said today that Donald Waters, Rte. 2, Escanaba, found the tanks on his property Thursday. The tanks were left sometime within the past three days, Waters reported.

Albert E. Marohnic, 36, of Rte. 2, Escanaba, was ordered to pay a fine and costs of $100 Thursday in District Court after he pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor. In addition, his driver's license was automatically suspended. Marohnic was arrested by State Police in Wells Township.

Post Office, Downtown Anchor, May Be Slipping Far Westward

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Escanaba's wandering post office—now proposed to be removed to the city's west side—has never strayed far in the past 105 years.

Since Eli P. Royce, first postmaster, was commissioned on June 28, 1864, the post office has been moved only five times—all within an area of five blocks on Escanaba's east side.

Now the Post Office Department has approved the relocation.

was a town. The first "Escanawba" was at Flat Rock where mail was brought from Green Bay in the years before the settlement was begun at Sand Point in 1863.

The old Flat Rock community on the Escanaba River in the area of Pioneer Trail Park was settled in the late 1830's. Mail arrived by sailboat from Green Bay in navigation season and by dog teams and by carriers on snowshoes in the winter.

Then in 1864 the steamers Sarah Van Epps, the Saginaw and Dunlap brought speedier mail and passenger and freight service to the budding community of Escanaba. Eli Royce, who had platted the town for the N. Ludington Co., stayed around to become one of the busiest individuals in the fast-growing ore port.

Royce was a land surveyor, businessman, city engineer, judge of probate, and the first postmaster, among other responsibilities.

Sixteen Postmasters

Escanaba has had 16 postmasters in the past 105 years, according to records in the Delta County Historical Museum. They are:

Royce, commissioned June 28, 1864; Eldon G. Dixon, July 13, 1878; Royce again on Dec. 16, 1878; Hiram A. Barr, Jan. 7, 1881; Edwin P. Barras, Aug. 9, 1883; Timothy Killian, July 5, 1885; Casper C. Stephenson, July 9, 1889; John M. Hartnett, Sept. 28, 1893; Charles M. Thatcher, Sept. 17, 1897; Matthew J. Ryan, Feb. 7, 1902; Henry W. Coburn, Jan. 16, 1906; Michael Doherty, March 13, 1914; John O'Meara, Aug. 14, 1915; John A. Semer, Oct.

25, 1921; George G. Geniesse, Dec. 28, 1929; Mrs. Gerald J. Cleary, April 16, 1934; and James E. Pryal, April 15, 1961.

Escanaba's first post office was in a building owned by Royce and located on N. 3rd St. (then Tilden Ave.) where the county jail now stands.

From there it was moved (largely with changes in postmasters) to 302 Ludington St., then to 323 Ludington, to N. 5th St. just off Ludington, and thence to 815 Ludington in the building now occupied by the Office Service Co.

Back To 1852

The last move was to the present Federal building at Ludington and 6th St. in May, 1910. Additional stories to house federal offices were added later.

In the days before Escanaba, there was a post office on the Escanaba River at the Flat Rock settlement, and Jefferson S. Bagley was the first postmaster in 1852. It was called "Escanawba" and the same name and spelling accompanied transfer of the office to Escanaba with Royce as postmaster on June 28, 1864.

Escanaba was the southern overland outlet for the Marquette iron range and mail volume was considered heavy even in the 1850's, when it was transported by dog sled and men with packs. The Chicago & North Western Railway's extension of track to Escanaba in 1871 brought improved service.

Post office receipts at Escanaba have climbed steadily except in the depression period of the 1930's. Back in 1928 before the slump the receipts totaled $73,162. Forty years later, in 1968, the total was $339,049.

Central Site?

Efforts are being renewed by the Chamber of Commerce and the City Council to have the Post Office Department select a downtown site for the proposed new post office.

The acquisition of a suitable site is a problem yet to be solved, but the retail merchants, Chamber of Commerce and Council are in agreement that the post office should be located in the downtown area.

Communications protesting the selection of the site west of 23rd St. have been addressed to Michigan senators and congressmen, with the request they use their influence with the Post Office Department to locate the facility downtown.

tion of the post office at 1st Ave. N. and 25th St., just 19 blocks to the west. The site was bought from the Walch Development Co. for $21,000.

The Post Office Department sought a site that had certain advantages not offered at the present location at Ludington and 6th St., where it has been since 1910. These include sufficient area for present needs and future expansion; a site cost within Department policy; and proximity to main highways.

Plastic Covers On Window Sills

By ANDY LANG

QUESTION: About a year ago, while visiting in another state, I was in a home where all the inside window sills were covered with the same kind of plastic you see on coffee tables. I don't know whether this set-up was put in when the house was built or whether it was done later. The window sills looked very neat and trim and I imagine they were easy to clean.

Is it possible for me to put the plastic on our windowsills, most of which are pretty well worn and in need of painting? Also, would the wood have to be specially treated first?

ANSWER: To answer the last question first, no, the word requires no special treatment, assuming that the old paint merely has worn off and isn't peeling. If the latter, scrape and sand the sill to provide a smooth surface for the plastic laminate. The hardest part of the job is cutting the plastic to size. The safest way is to make a cardboard pattern of the sill, which usually has curves in it at the sides.

Allow about one-eighth of an inch extra at the front for later trimming. The cutting must be done with a saw that has very fine teeth regardless of what type of saw it is. The big danger is that the edges of the plastic may chip. To avoid this, place the plastic upward on a firm surface with the cutting line beyond the edge of the table or bench. Hold the saw almost parallel with the plastic, so that the saw teeth wear through the finished portion before cutting into the backing material. Move the saw slowly and steadily on the forward stroke, lifting it to clear the plastic on the back stroke. Support the cutaway portion so it won't sag and tear.

Test the plastic on the sill to be sure it fits snugly. Apply contact cement to the back of the plastic and the top of the sill, spreading it evenly and thinly. Wait about 20 minutes, then place the plastic on the sill. Be sure you do this carefully, because it is almost impossible to shift the plastic once it is in position. Use a hammer and a piece of scrap wood to pound down the plastic at every point so it is securely bonded.

Wait until the next day, then take a coarse file and trim off the excess plastic at the front until it is flush with the sill edge. Hold the file with both hands, moving it in downward strokes and lifting it on the upward returns to avoid chipping.

Home Builders Need Check List

By VIVIAN BROWN

"I'm going to be straw boss while our house is being built and I'd like a good check list to guide me," says a woman.

It's a good idea. No matter how well armed you are with knowledge and plans, you must be on the qui vive. Architect, builder, electrician, masons and other workmen delegate responsibility to others, who may fall down on the job. Everybody means well, but it is your house.

Here are some reminders:

Be at the site when the trees are being removed and when the foundation is being dug to make sure the house will be put where you want it.

If you plan to have a basement, be there so that you don't end with crawl space. This may happen if the builder considers it too expensive to blast rock that is near the surface of the ground. Find out if everything is all right while there is still time to move the house site to avoid the rocky spot.

If there are any footings to be installed such as for a fireplace in the future, make sure the mason has noted it.

Talk to the electrician. Maybe he has been playing it by ear and has never seen a blueprint. Does he know the little square with a dot in the center means a push button and that a circle with two lines means base receptacle? Make sure he digs it.

Some builders may be unaccustomed to architectural blueprints, if you have them. Reiterate that you want basement windows, sliding doors, fireplace, until it sticks in his mind. Some builders stick to basic ideas.

Many builders are anti-circular staircase. They consider these stairs a nuisance to install as they have been accustomed to installing ordinary stairs and dread the idea of getting involved with something new. They will tell you they are dangerous or that they think the town building code is against winders or that the stairs will take up too much room. Whatever the holdout, stick to your plan. He may be right against the building code in the town, but check on it. If you have had an architect draw up the plans, he would have known. Circular stairs installed properly should be no more dangerous than others.

If your architect has specified certain materials in the house, these should be checked before the builder goes ahead. A builder may not be dishonest in choosing cheaper materials. He may be taking what is readily available to him. Hold up building the house, but don't accept inferior materials because you want to speed up a job.

Be sure the fireplace is adequate. Builders cut corners in various ways. If the fireplace isn't deep enough to have a good draft, who needs it. You will be fiddling with it all the time to get the fire started.

Kitchen planning is perhaps the most important checkpoint of all. The builder may be absent or busy when the plumber is on the scene, and the plumber will proceed in a fashion he is familiar with, unless you are there to check that he is following the location of appliances and fixtures to the letter.

Another important time to be on the scene is when the tile men come to do the bathrooms, particularly if you've specified colors. It is flabbergasting how often tile colors are switched, and it is usually because someone didn't refer to the blueprint in telling the tile men where colors go. One home owner found the baby blue tile had been put in the bath off the master bedroom where they planned to use avocado, and the little boy's bathroom got the green which hardly matched his perfectly decorated blue and white nursery.

It's a good idea to put signs in bathrooms instructing tile men and in addition to mark walls with colors. It'll help if you can't get there when they begin their work.

Do-It-Yourself

Get Mower Power With Spring Tune-Up

By MR. FIX

Tall, uncut grass and that first warm day will combine to make you think you can just roll your old power mower out of the garage and go to work.

You can if you serviced it thoroughly last fall. But if you are like most of us you probably parked it in a corner, maybe threw a cover of sorts over it and let it go at that.

Before you do something, check over your owner's manual completely. This will give you the proper maintenance procedure for your particular mower.

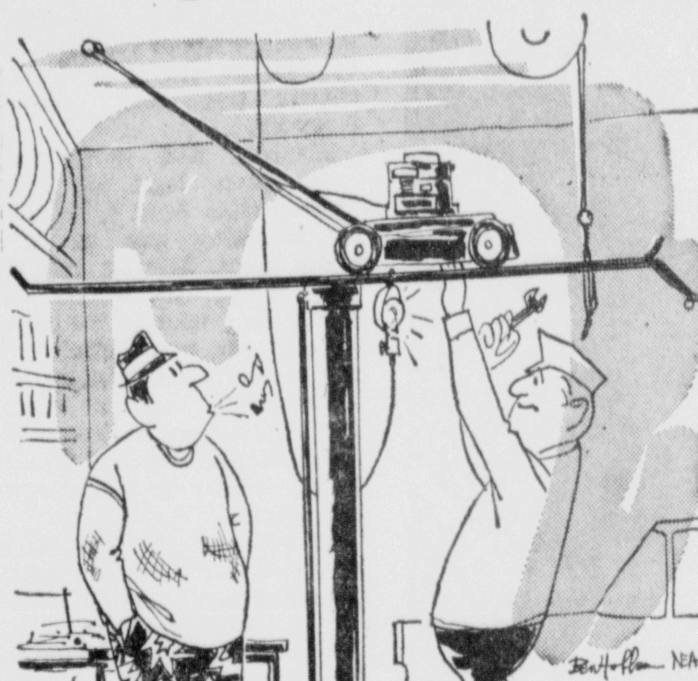

Next, no matter what you are about to do, disconnect the spark plug wire on the engine. Just slip it off the end of the plug and there can be no danger of accidental starting.

Clean your mower before you do anything else. A wire brush will free most dried up clippings and dirt. Apply kerosene with an old paint brush to get the mower really clean. Work in a well-ventilated area.

You should have drained the gas and oil from your mower last year. Don't try to start cutting until you do.

Don't fill your tank immediately. After you have drained the tank of last year's fuel, wash out the rust and sediment with a small amount of fresh gasoline. If you've had gas stored in a can all winter this, too, may have some rust in it. It's best to buy fresh fuel.

Instead of just draining out the old oil, flush the crankcase by first adding enough oil to get it up to the normal level. Then run the engine until it warms up. While the oil is hot, drain and most of the sludge will come out with it. Then fill with fresh oil.

Air filters need cleaning several times a season. Start clean. Check the manual for the recommended method. Most are rinsed in kerosene. Sometimes you can wash them in water and detergent. After the filter is dry add a light touch of oil before replacing.

Check the blade for wear, dullness, nicks and rough spots. Make doubly certain the spark plug is disconnected before touching that blade. Small nicks can be filed off. You can sharpen the blade the same way. Damaged blades should be replaced.

While a spark plug can be cleaned and reset, it's hardly worth the effort since there is only one. Get a fresh plug to start the season.

Make certain wheel bearings, all moving parts are properly lubricated. Use a light machine oil unless something else is recommended. Set the height you want. Tighten all nuts and bolts before starting.

Now you're ready to cut the grass. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Fancy Coach Up For Sale

DETROIT (AP)—Somewhere there is a buyer for a $40,000 gilded coach with plush satin seats and seminaked nymphs painted on the sides.

Ernest Henderson Sr., chairman of the Sheraton Corp. of America, had the coach built as a gimmick to promote the hotels in the Sheraton chain, but he died two years ago at 70 and the coach wasn't completed until only recently.

The International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., which took over the Sheraton chain, has put the coach up for sale.

William Goldsberry, assistant general manager of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, is attempting to sell the coach to the Fisher Body Division, which always has used a stagecoach as its trademark.

Another Sheraton hotel official in Los Angeles reportedly is trying to peddle it to Disneyland, and still another is talking to August Busch in St. Louis, to see if he'd like it to promote Budweiser beer.

Viewer Is Part Of Electronic Sculpture

CHICAGO (AP) — The viewer becomes part of the design of an electronic sculpture shaped back and front like a huge television screen.

The work, "Contact: A Bytetric Sculpture," by Les Levine was shown Friday for the first time. It has an 8-foot-high convex plastic bubble on each side. Behind them are nine television monitors and four television cameras which transmit onto the screens images of the viewer standing in front of the sculpture.

Each television monitor is covered with a sheet of different colored acrylic plastic, and the camera lenses are focused at varying distances so that the viewer appears in different sizes and perspectives.

Superimposed over the image of the viewer are alternating views of activities of Gulf & Western Industries, which commissioned the sculpture for its new building, under construction on Columbus Circle in New York.

"The viewer provides the input which comes back to him as output," Levine said.

Levine, 32, was born in Dublin, studied in London and lived for a while in Toronto before becoming a resident of New York.

He told an interviewer at the preview of his work at the Museum of Contemporary Art, "It is unreasonable in this date and age when there is so much intercommunication with everybody that art should be housed in a little room by itself."

It is the kind of art which attracts the involvement of the spectator which has been a major focus in exhibitions at the Museum of Contemporary Art.

Levine said, "Art galleries by nature have been so traditional that it is almost impossible to do anything avant garde in them."

Plan Welcome For Van Putten

CALEDONIA (AP) — When Tommy comes marching home, there will be a big parade and all of the school children in his hometown will be dismissed from classes to welcome their hero.

That's the plan of Wendell Long, operator of a Caledonia service station, who is planning a celebration for this community's war hero, Spec. 5 Thomas Van Putten.

The 21-year-old soldier is hospitalized in Illinois following his return from Vietnam where he was held captive by the Viet Cong for more than 14 months. He escaped about three weeks ago and was picked up by a U.S. helicopter last Thursday just north of Saigon.

After being flown to the Glenview Naval Air Station near Chicago, Van Putten was reunited Tuesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van Putten of Caledonia.

He was suffering from malnutrition and dehydration from his ordeal and will be hospitalized for some time. But plans for the welcome home celebration are going ahead until the Army notifies civic leaders when Van Putten can be released.

Overland Train Is War Surplus

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Six years ago, the Army completed the multi-million-dollar Overland Train Mark II and described it as the answer to transporting military supplies over arctic wastes and desert sands.

Today, after sitting unused on the Army's Yuma, Ariz., Proving Ground, the train has been declared surplus and has been put up for sale to the highest bidder.

Records at the proving ground show the train was put through tests between February and June, 1963, and it hasn't moved a wheel since.

A news release from the Defense Logistics Services Center at Battle Creek said the train "has served its purpose" but did not mention the production cost of the train or the cost of its development.

When contacted by newsmen, the Army couldn't come up with any figures but the Army Material Command in Washington did locate a news release dated Feb. 20, 1962, in which the Army Transportation Corps announced delivery of the completed vehicle by the developer, R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., of Longview, Tex.

The train is one city block long, carries 150 tons of cargo and travels on 10-foot wheels.

ALUMINUM LEISURE HOME was unveiled in Chicago. Constructed of curved aluminum panels, it is a two-story building that will serve as a vacation, retirement or second home.

A-Frame Of Aluminum

CHICAGO (AP) — An "A" frame type home designed for leisure living uses insulated exterior aluminum panels.

Peter S. Pedersen Jr., president of Leisure Home Corporation of America, said the expandable system of adding modular units starts with a standard-size home 32 feet by 23 feet and 18 feet high. It will sell unfurnished for about $6,000 to $8,000.

The principal advantages of the home, aside from the low cost, are the elimination of expensive maintenance problems and maximum resistance to fire, rot, termites and moth-eaters.

Designed for summer homes, ski lodges and retirement living, the aluminum home rests on a foundation slab of concrete or a wooden base.

A two-story unit permits two to four bedrooms and a variety of floor plans.

Griffin Asks Tax Aid On Pollution

U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich) said that Congress should continue the seven per cent tax credit for investment by industries in anti-pollution equipment. The President has called for repeal of the tax credit.

"When the investment tax credit was suspended in late 1966," Griffin said, "one important exception was made. Congress insisted that the credit should continue with respect to equipment and facilities installed by industry for controlling air and water pollution.

"Limited progress has been made in the battle against pollution.

"This is not the time to reduce incentives to install pollution control equipment. If anything, the incentives should be increased."

Raise Funds For S. Viet School

HOLLAND (AP) — More than $6,000 in funds raised by students at Hope College and residents of this community have been used for the construction of an elementary school building in the South Vietnamese village of Le Loi.

The Hope-Holland Hamlet Drive campaign was staged in February, 1966, but use of the money was postponed when Le Loi fell into the hands of the Viet Cong.

Construction got under way after the hamlet was returned to South Vietnamese control, and officials there reported the building is 95 per cent completed now. The hamlet is in southeastern Long Khanh province, east of Saigon.

Miss Ouradnik Named 'Secretary Of Week'

At a banquet held last night at the Terrace, Miss Marie A. Ouradnik, 1020 9th Ave. S., Escanaba, was honored as "Secretary of the Week," as part of the activities planned by the secretarial students at Bay de Noc Community College.

In commemoration of the 18th annual National Secretaries Week, April 20-26, a drawing had been held earlier in the week at which time Dr. Richard Rinehart had selected Marie as the winner of a contest in which approximately 30 local employers had submitted their secretaries names.

The contest according to Miss Samson of the faculty was "planned to emphasize the vital role that secretaries play in the business community and at the same time remind the secretaries of their responsibilities to their employer and their profession."

Receives Pin

Miss Ouradnik was presented a corsage from her employer and an engraved gold pin from the secretarial students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Ouradnik of Garden, and is employed by William E. Anderson, Associate of the firm of Hansley, Neiman, and Anderson, Attorneys at Law.

A 1956 honor-student graduate of Holy Name High School, she attended Bay de Noc College as a part-time student from 1964 to 1967 and is a member of the College Alumni Association.

Delta Nurses Oppose New Legislation

The regular monthly meeting of the Delta District Nurses Association was held at the Dells Supper Club on Tuesday.

President Elizabeth Nelson announced the various workshops being held in the U. P. including a seminar on cancer management to be held May 1 in Marquette.

Members were informed of several legislative issues including: House Bill 2847 (Amendment to the Nursing Practice Act). This would allow the Board of Nursing to issue a license to a person who has been engaged in nursing for 10 years. In most cases these individuals have little if any formal education in practical nursing.

Delta District nurses strongly oppose this legislation as they feel individuals should not be licensed on the basis of work experience only.

Safe nursing care cannot be guaranteed when individuals who cannot qualify for licensure can be granted a license with no formal preparation or without examination.

Another bill pertains to Senate Bill 285 which would exempt existing licensed nursing homes from rules governing construction and number of patients.

Such legislation if passed would provide no legal safeguard for those employed in nursing homes with regard to the number of patients, care and standards. This bill would also provide protection for the nursing home operator while failing to protect the safety of the patients.

The Delta District voted against both issues and members are to write to Charles H. Varnum, state representative, stating their opposition.

Tentative plans for Michigan Nurse Week (May 4-10) were discussed and activities for the week will be announced soon.

Rev. W. Johnson To Speak At Grace Church

The Rev. J. Warren Johnson, one of the missionaries to be appointed by the Baptist General Conference, will be the guest speaker at Grace Baptist Church, 603 Michigan Ave., Gladstone at 11 a. m. Sunday, April 27.

Rev. and Mrs. Johnson went to Assam, India in 1946 and have been in evangelistic ministry on the North Bank of the Brahmaputra River. In addition to duties as an evangelist, Rev. Johnson has also served as administrator of the Baptist Christian Hospital in Tezpur. During this last term the Johnsons have worked in Tezpur and North Lakhimpur.

In the summer of 1967 three missionary families and one of the single ladies were ordered to leave Assam as part of the government's program of 'Indianization' of the missions.

The Johnsons were requested by the Board of Foreign Missions to go to Ethiopia for a short time to assist in missionary work there. They were happy to do and Rev. Johnson began working with the business end of the mission.

He then served as pastor of Christ Chapel in Addis Ababa, which ministers to people from many countries and various occupations who meet for English service.

After a time in Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, the Johnsons went to Ambo where he assisted with the administration of the Door of Life Hospital, as well as taking part in the local church.

During their time in Ethiopia their two daughters have been enrolled at Good Shepherd School in Addis Ababa, a cooperative school run by four missions mainly for missionary children.

Rev. and Mrs. Johnson and family returned to the United States in June of 1968 and are residing in St. Paul, Minn. during a time of furlough, pending further designation for missionary service.

Dancer Ruby Keeler Visits Movie Capital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Come and meet those dancing feet . . . On the avenue I'm taking you to . . .

"Forty-second Street . . ."

The orchestra spontaneously struck up the anthem from the classic 1933 musical, "42nd Street." It was a rare, sentimental moment, for Ruby Keeler had just walked onto the movie set.

Fittingly enough, the sound stage was at Warner Brothers, where the winsome star had tapped her way through "42nd Street," "Goldiggers of 1933," "Footlight Parade," "Dames," "Flirtation Walk" "Go Into Your Dance," "Shipmates Forever," etc., etc.

No Favorite

The set she visited harked back to the same period. It was for the ABC-Palomar production of "They Shoot Horses, Don't They?" which centers around the marathon dance craze of the 1930s. Miss Keeler had come to visit her sister, who is an extra in the Jane Fonda movie.

Later in an interview, Miss Keeler said she believed it was the first time she had returned to Warner Brothers since the year when she and Dick Powell headed the studio's musical stock company. But then she is a trifle vague about that part of her past. Ask her which was her favorite film, and she replies:

"Gee, I don't remember. They were all so much alike."

Ruby Keeler is 60 this year, but doesn't look it. The figure is still trim, the skin smooth and tanned, thanks to daily golf sessions at Newport Beach, where she has long lived. Her husband

John Lowe, died recently. Her famous legs?

Ziegfeld Star

"They seem to be holding up," she smiled. "Golf helps. I don't tapdance any more—why should I? But if I had to tap for a television show, I could handle it. At least I wouldn't have any problem the first day. You know how it is when you exercise: the first day is fine. Only on the second and third days do the muscles start to feel it."

Miss Keeler was a Ziegfeld star on Broadway, then came to Hollywood during the musical cycle created by the advent of talkies. She was then married to Al Jolson, and their life together was told in a highly fictionalized version in "The Jolson Story."

"I never saw the picture,"

said Miss Keeler. "From what I've heard about it, the story was far from the truth. I suppose I should have been more careful, but the people at Columbia said if I didn't sign a release they would go ahead and use a completely fictional wife."

Little Money

"So I signed and got very little money for it. That was a closed chapter of my life, and I wanted no more to do with it. But I do think that Al was wrong in not protecting me."

Miss Keeler retired from films in 1941 after a dismal film called "Sweetheart of the Campus"—"it was so bad I had no regrets about quitting." She met Lowe soon afterward, and their marriage produced four children.

Angela Lansbury Doing Her Thing

NEW YORK (AP) — "I think one of the greatest gifts in life is the opportunity to work at something you enjoy doing," said Angela Lansbury.

"Many, many people don't get this chance, and therefore they never experience a sense of the fulfillment of life."

It was a loss to politics and a gain to the theater when the British-born actress decided to follow her mother's example and embark on a career before the footlights. One of her childhood dreams—she is the granddaughter of George Lansbury, former leader of the British Labor party—was to become England's first lady prime minister.

Miss Lansbury, currently starring in the Broadway musical, "Dear World," which gained her a second Tony Award, has appeared in 70 films and numerous plays since she came to Canada as a wartime evacuee and got a $60-a-week job in 1942 doing impersonations in a night club.

A year later she was working as a cosmetics salesgirl in a Los Angeles department store at $28 a week when the late movie magnate Louis B. Mayer, impressed by a short film test, signed her to a seven-year contract at $500 weekly.

Over the next two decades Hollywood make-up men must have anointed her with a ton of goo to age her face to play the roles of hags and hussies which became her specialty. She finally escaped from this typecasting in the Broadway hit, "Mame," a sprightly romp in which she won her first Tony Award.

Her fine character acting also won her three Academy Award nominations for her performances in "Gaslight," "The Picture of Dorian Gray," and "The Manchurian Candidate."

Many film fans, indelibly impressed by her screen images, have automatically come to think of Angela as a crafty, wrinkled old lady—a Mrs. M. Thuselah. This rather amuses Miss Lansbury, a strikingly handsome, blue-eyed woman still in her early forties.

This is her creed in her own words:

"If you conscientiously attempt to give the best you can of yourself in every department of your life, you will indeed get the best back. By giving affirmatively, you can't help but end up on the plus side of happiness."

"Your state of life will be happy and forward, not stationary and negative."

Construction of the Appian Way, oldest of Roman highways, was started in 312 B. C. by Appian Claudius, censor of Rome.

'Hawaii' Inspires Second Big Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Mirisch Brothers have discovered a gold mine in James Michener's "Hawaii." The big bestseller has now inspired a second movie, "The Hawaiians."

Film buffs can probably find an example, but I can't recall an instance where a single novel has provided plots for two movies. Sequels, yes—"Return to Peyton Place," "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls," etc.

"But I want to get the message across: 'The Hawaiian' is not a sequel," insists Walter Mirisch, the professorial-looking producer of both Michener films. "A sequel uses the same characters and moves them beyond the time span in the original movie. Our picture will use entirely new characters in another period of Hawaiian history."

Michener's tale of the 50th state has had a curious career in the film world. Fred Zinnemann was originally scheduled to make the movie. Overwhelmed by the immense story—from the geological beginnings of the islands to statehood—he decided it could be told only in two separate films.

"But our financial people decided we could only do one picture at a time, so Fred dropped out of the picture," recalled Mirisch. George Roy Hill was enlisted as director.

Midway in the location filming, the Mirisches decided Hill was proceeding too slowly, and he was removed. But a threatened mutiny by the native actors restored Hill to command.

"Hawaii" finished far over budget and opened to rather unkind notices, even in Hawaii.

"Nobody liked it but the people," Mirisch remarked happily. Aided no doubt by the popularity of Julie Andrews, the film has already grossed over $20 million, with more expected from reissues and television.

MANISTIQUE

Display Open To General Public

Crafts Exhibit Saturday

About 50 Upper Peninsula craftsmen are expected to display their crafts at the Tenth Annual Upper Peninsula Crafts and Native Industries Exhibit Saturday at Manistique High School.

Inform Board On Dickinson Library

Mrs. Robert Weber, library aide at the Manistique School and Public Library, told the Library Advisory Board about the new Dickinson County Public Library which will be dedicated this Saturday.

The new library cost $409,103.13 with federal funding of $271,760 included in the total, and will house 60,000 volumes. It is located at 401 Iron Mountain St. and will also serve as Mid-Peninsula Library Federation headquarters.

Mrs. Earl H. LeBrasseur announced that the library will display 52 books during Saturday's Arts and Crafts Exhibit in the New Gym, and said that Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Colleen Kasun will attend Library Workshops this summer.

Guests at the noon luncheon held in the Conference Room of the high school were Mrs. Pearl Smith and Mrs. Clyde Hutt of Seney and Allen Ahola of the Mott Foundation Internship Program in Flint.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Crafts Council with the local assistance of the Manistique Community School program and the Manistique Art Club. The exhibit area in the high school gymnasium will be open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There will be no admission charge.

A highlight of the exhibition will be a presentation on the crafts industry of Appalachia. William M. Roberts of the West Virginia Department of Commerce will discuss craft activities in his state, show a film, "Of Heart and Hand," and display craft items.

Menominee Native
Roberts is a director of the West Virginia Artists and Craftsmen Guild and chairman of the 1969 Mountain State Art and Craft Show. He spent part of his youth in the Upper Peninsula and is a graduate of Menominee High School.

The presentation on Appalachian crafts is set for a conference session to begin at 10 a.m. in the high school auditorium. Scheduled for the afternoon are demonstrations of craft skills by Upper Peninsula craftsmen.

Two Manistique area craftsmen will be participating in these demonstrations. Harold Plichta will demonstrate wood-working skills and Ken Tilton will show lapidary working techniques. Other crafts to be demonstrated include weaving, rug weaving and hooking, silk screening, acrylic painting, wood carving and rose maling.

As part of the exhibition there will also be several special displays. These will include a showing of paintings by members of the Manistique Art Club; a display of Michigan crafts provided by the Michigan Council for the Arts; and a crafts book exhibit arranged by the Manistique Public Library.

Made For Profit
There will also be a display of items that can be locally produced for sale to visitors to the Upper Peninsula at a cost of $1 to $5. Peter Grieves, Cooperative Extension Agent for Luce County, is arranging this exhibit.

Two prizes will be awarded in the exhibition: (1) for the best craft item displayed, and (2) for the craft item best using the exhibition's theme of "Blue Waters."

Judging will be by three consultants, who also will offer individual evaluation of craft items at the request of the exhibiting craftsmen.

The exhibition committee includes: Richard Bonifas, director of the Manistique Community School; Mrs. Margaret Dixon, and Mrs. Caroline Stoll of the Manistique Art Club; Mrs. J. J. Herbert of Manistique; Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur of the Manistique Public Library; Jan Strasma, Manistique VISTA Volunteer; Paul Harkonen of UPCAP; and Charles Folio of the University of Michigan Extension Service in Escanaba.

Mrs. David Whitman

Sandra Kay Jones, David Whitman Wed

Sandra Kay Jones and David George Whitman exchanged their marriage vows at a two o'clock Nuptial Mass in the St. Francis de Sales Church on April 19.

Rev. Father Daniel C. Zaloga officiated at the double ring ceremony with music provided by the Children's Choir under the direction of Sister Colleen. The church altars were attractively decorated with Easter lilies.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Milo Jones, 140 N. Houghton Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitman, Rte. 1. Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in an empire-styled gown of white tulle with A-line skirt. A bateau neckline and full-pointed sleeves of the gown were trimmed in venetian lace in a lily-of-the-valley pattern. Motifs of the lace were repeated on the detachable court train. Clusters of venetian lace flowers formed a half-cup headpiece which held the shoulder-length veil.

Attendants
The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with yellow roses. She wore a silver cross necklace, a gift of the groom, and carried a hand crocheted linen handkerchief, a gift of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. George Farley.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Donald Bellville as matron of honor. Mrs. Patti Hoholik was bridesmaid. Both wore pastel yellow A-shaped, full-length gowns fashioned of rayon chiffon. The wedding band collars of their dresses were highlighted with acetate satin and featured button trimmed fronts. A back panel of satin was topped with a shoulder bow of satin. Their circular nylon veils covered a nylon satin headpiece bow.

Ronald Whitman attended his brother as bestman with James Hoholik as groomsman. Ronald Bosanic and Donald Bellville ushered.

Reception At Fireside
Mrs. Jones attended her daughter's wedding in a two-piece double knit apricot suit and matching accessories. Mrs. Whitman chose a two-piece brown knit suit with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses.

The couple accepted congratulations from about 165 relatives and friends at a 4 to 7 p.m. reception at the Fireside Inn. Mrs. Clara Whitman and Mrs. George Farley, grandmothers of the groom, assisted in cutting the four-tier bridal cake decorated with yellow roses. Mrs. Ronald Bosanic was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Yellowstone National Park and will also tour other western states before returning to Manistique to make their home on Route 1.

The couple are 1967 graduates of Manistique High School. The groom is self-employed.

Briefly Told

Ticketed on Wednesday by state police were Albert Peterson of Cooks, defective brakes, and Orville Cornwell, Rudolph, Wis., no registration plates on trailer.

Rowing is the oldest organized college sport. Since 1841, Oxford and Cambridge Universities have competed in annual contests over a 4 1/4-mile course.

Little League Tryouts Resume

With little more than a week remaining for tryouts for the 1969 Little League season, candidates are urged to register and report for processing as soon as possible. Friday night's work outs will get under way at 5:15 under the direction of Gerry Nelson and Claude Bohn and will be resumed Saturday morning at nine under the direction of Bohn and Jim Schultz.

Despite poor weather conditions, managers were able to handle about 25 boys during the first two evenings of the 1969 season.

Registration blanks are available at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center, John's Market or the home of player agent, Paul Vardigan, 1416 16th Ave. South.

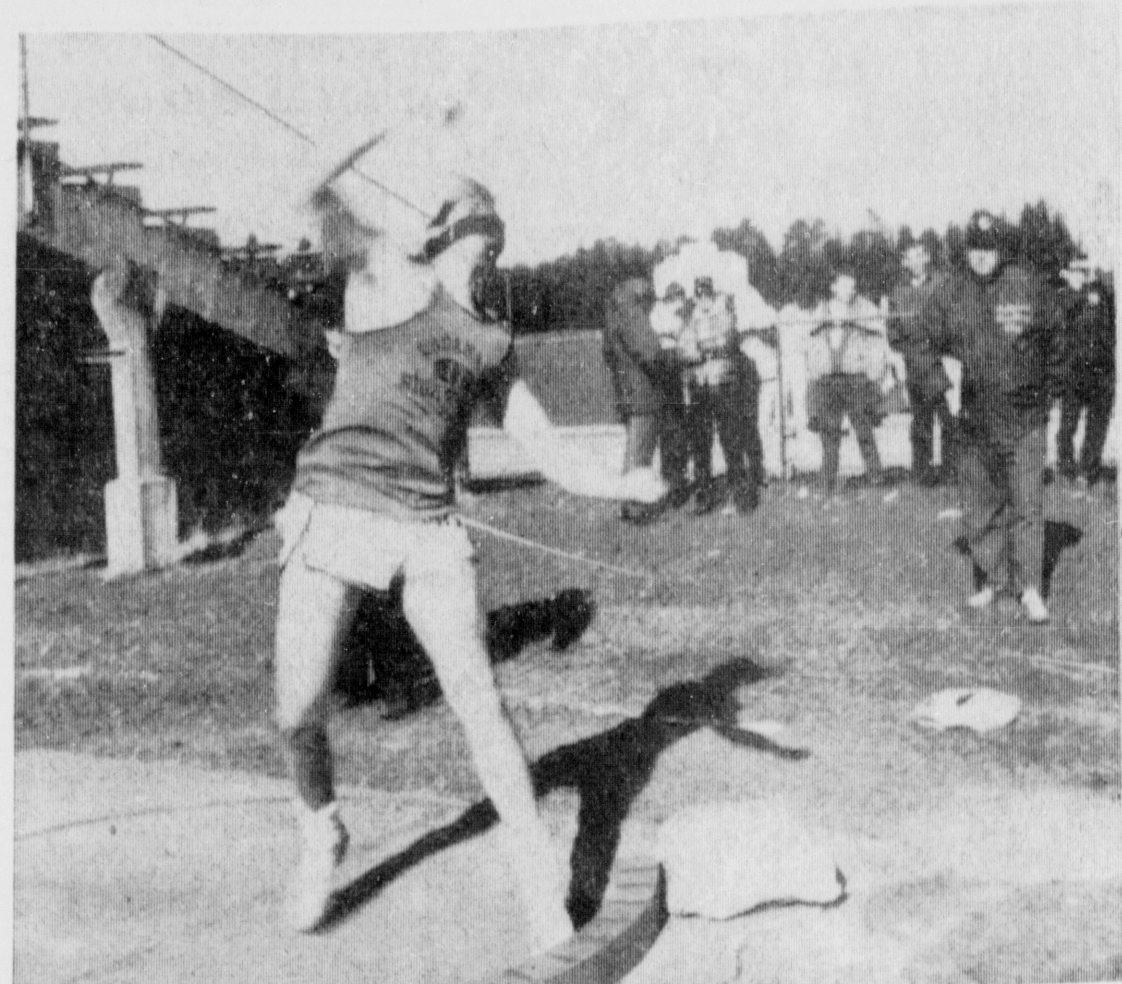

Boys who will be nine but not 13 years old before the first of August and live in the City of Escanaba are eligible to try out. All trials are scheduled for the Little League Field adjacent to the Civic Center.

The players auction is expected to take place the first week-end in May with regular season play expected to get underway on Saturdays about the middle of the month.

Minor League begins operation the first week of June, but will operate under the new 1969 rules:

"If a minor league plays a schedule of games, it must dissolve at the conclusion of current season. All players are returned to the league's player pool. No manager or team may retain a player in subsequent season. Rosters of minor league teams will be filled from the ranks of those boys not selected on major league teams."

Tom Haller of the Los Angeles Dodgers led National League catchers last season in double plays. He was in on 23 of them.

GARY BRAWLEY, the Escanaba Eskymos' giant sophomore shot putter, reaches out with a 46 foot-plus toss in the shot put event during yesterday's triangular track meet between the Eskymos, Gladstone and Manistique at the Escanaba Athletic Field. Eskymos Hold Off Braves To Record Track Victory

The Escanaba Eskymos held off a strong bid by the Gladstone Braves in the distance events to capture first place in a triangular track meet held Thursday afternoon at the Escanaba Athletic Field.

The Eskymos used eight first place finishes to score 76 points in the meet while Gladstone finished the afternoon with 61 and the Manistique Emeralds placed third with 11 points.

Allen Berg, Escanaba's "Mr. Everything," finished first in four events for the second meet in a row. Berg captured top honors in the high jump, long jump, low hurdles and high hurdles, the same feat he performed last Saturday in the Northern Michigan University Indoor Relays.

The only other double winner in yesterday's meet was Tom Carlson of the Eskymos, who finished first in the pole vault and the 220-yard dash.

Escanaba had built a comfortable lead in the field events before the Braves started picking up points in the distance events. Gladstone runners got top honors in the two-mile run, the mile, the 880-yard dash, the 440-yard dash and the mile relay along with another first in the 100-yard dash. Top performances were turned in by Jeff Schram, who ran the two-mile in 10:31.2, and Cliff Young, who broke the tape at 2:06.5 in the 880-yard dash.

Gary Brawley, Escanaba's giant sophomore shot putter, easily scored his second victory of the season in the shot put with a toss of 46 feet 8 1/2 inches. The Eskymos also got second and third in the shot put event.

Orioles Top Tigers; Lolic Makes Return

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers — whose hitting attack is a disaster area — have called the National Guard to the rescue.

Mickey Lolic, Detroit's 1968 World Series hero, has wrangled a one day pass from his annual two weeks of National Guard training in Savannah, Ga., and will try to put the Tigers back in the win column against Boston tonight.

Detroit is now three games behind trail-blazing Baltimore in the AL's east division, after the Orioles completed a two-game sweep Thursday night by defeating the Tigers 5-2.

"We haven't been hitting for a week—ever longer than that," Detroit Manager Mayo Smith conceded in Baltimore after the Tigers were held to five hits by hurler Dave McNally.

"Not just a question of timely hitting, but hitting . . . period," Smith said. "The whole team has been spotty."

Baltimore's win was its 13th in 18 starts as the Orioles loom as the team to beat in the tough east division.

McNally struck out seven Tigers while notching his third triumph of 1969 without a defeat. He yielded solo homers to Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline. McAuliffe socked a hanging curve for a third-inning homer which just reached the right field bleachers about 315 feet away.

A round-tripper by Kaline in the eighth bounced off the glove of left fielder Merv Rottenmund and went over the fence. The Orioles made only six hits off loser Earl Wilson and Pat Dobson, but they were timely.

Frank Robinson hit his seventh homer in the first—a 320-footer—and singled to set up Boog Powell's sacrifice fly in the fourth which snapped a 1-1 tie.

Powell doubled to open the seventh and rode home on a two-run double by Dave Johnson following an intentional walk to Ellie Hendricks. Powell also singled home a run in the eighth.

Wilson, the entered the game with a 20 - 6 lifetime record against Baltimore, yielded four hits before being chased in the seventh. Wilson, the loser, and reliever Pat Dobson allowed six hits.

Crusaders Top Maroon Netters

The Holy Name Crusaders opened the 1969 tennis season by scoring a 5-1 victory over the Menominee Maroons in a match held yesterday afternoon at the City Tennis Courts.

The Crusaders swept all three doubles matches and two of the three singles matches to record the victory, the only defeat coming when Paul Nyberg of the Maroons defeated Steve Buckbee, 6-3 and 8-6.

Steve Fisher, the U. P. singles champion, started off the season in fine fashion by defeating his biggest rival, Craig Collard, 5-7, 8-6 and 6-4. Fisher has defeated the Menominee ace the past two years in a row for the U. P. singles crown.

Other Crusaders scoring victories yesterday were Dennis Lueneberg, who defeated Dave Reiswitz, 6-4 and 6-1; Steve Houle and John Daley, up-ending Rick Noel and Mark Christianson, 6-0 and 6-0 in doubles; and Richard Lundin and John Walker, who stopped Brian Matz and Steve Gasperi, 6-0 and 6-0 in the other doubles match. Pete Quinn and Gerry Koch, Holy Name's third doubles team, were awarded a victory on a forfeit.

Unwanted Astro Homers To Give Padres Victory

By The Associated Press

Last October, the Houston Astros decided Nate Colbert couldn't help them. Six months later, they figured he couldn't hurt them either.

Colbert took the first brush-off in stride, but he wasn't about to take another lying down.

The rookie infielder, a former Houston prospect landed by San Diego in the October expansion draft, confounded the Astros' strategy and tactics Thursday night and beat them 4-1 with his first major league homer, a three-run eighth inning wallop.

After Tony Gonzalez doubled with two out in the Padres' eighth, Houston reliever Jack Billingham walked Ollie Brown intentionally to get at Colbert — then flattened him with an inside pitch.

Colbert picked himself up and tagged the next pitch 420 feet into the left center field bleachers, breaking a 1-1 deadlock. The homer was the first hit off Billingham in 58 games, including 50 with Los Angeles last season.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 8-7, San Francisco topped Atlanta 5-1, St. Louis edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2 and Philadelphia rapped Montreal 7-1. Pittsburgh was rained out at New York.

Colbert, who appeared in 19 games with the Astros three years ago and got in to 20 more last season, batting .133 overall, has had hands broken twice by tight pitches in the minors.

Colbert, who started the night with one RBI in 12 games, also poked an infield single against his former mates, raising his batting average to .272.

Lee Mays drove in three runs with a triple and his third homer as the Reds chased left-hander Claude Osteen and built an 8-4 lead before surviving a late Los Angeles comeback.

May's two-run triple and a two-run single by Johnny Bench were the big hits in a five-run third inning explosion that sent Cincinnati in front to stay. Bob Toland also homered for the Reds.

Bill Sudakis hit his first homer for the Dodgers, who wasted 17 hits—four of them by Wes Parker.

Jack Hiatt's first 1969 homer, a two-run tie-breaking shot in the seventh, carried the Giants past Atlanta. Gaylord Perry scattered eight hits for his third victory in five decisions. Loser Milt Pappas allowed two hits until the seventh, when Willie McCovey singled.

The Giants wrapped it up with three runs in the eighth before Perry lost his shutout on ninth inning doubles by Orlando Cepeda and Bob Ridler.

Dave Giusti fired a three hitter as the Cardinals extended Chicago's losing string to four games. Julian Javier cracked four hits and scored two St. Louis runs, helping Giusti recover from a 2-0 first inning deficit.

Giusti, 2-1, retired 13 straight in one stretch while outpitching left-hander Ken Holtzman.

The Phillies built a 2-1 edge over Montreal and then flattened the fumbling Expos with five runs in the ninth. Errors by relief pitchers Carroll Sembera and Jerry Robertson and third baseman Coco Laboy contributed to the ninth inning Philadelphia flurry. Winner Rick Wise checked the Expos over seven hits, including a run-scoring triple by Laboy in the seventh.

Montreal Tops Boston; Wraps Up Puck Series

BOSTON (AP) — Rogatien Vachon still doesn't know how he stopped some of the shots the Boston Bruins fired at him Thursday night—but stop them he did, to move the Montreal Canadiens one step closer to another Stanley Cup championship.

"I never saw a couple of those shots," the acrobatic goaltender said after shutting the Bruins out for almost 89 minutes as Montreal came from behind for a 2-1 overtime victory to wrap up the East Division best-of-7 final series 4-2.

The Canadiens earned the right to defend their title in the over-all finals against the St. Louis Blues, starting Sunday in Montreal.

Vachon was forced to make 50 saves—including 22 in the second period alone.

The pressure got fierce in the first sudden death overtime session when the Bruins buzzed around him constantly, but he came up with two big saves on Phil Esposito up close and kicked out a pair of hard shots by Bobby Orr.

Once he lost his stick and got banged around a bit when he came out of the crease.

Vachon took over the Montreal net-minding midway in the series when Gump Worsley injured a finger. He also was a standout in the Canadiens' 4-2 victory Tuesday in Montreal.

The Bruins struck first before 14,659 fans in Boston Garden as Ron Murphy scored on a setup from Esposito at 2:29 of the opening period.

At 1:10 of the third period—just five seconds after Boston's Don Awrey had gone off on a cross checking penalty—Jean Beliveau of Montreal won the face-off and got the puck to Savard, whose long screen shot from the point whistled past Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers.

The teams battled scorelessly from that point until the Canadiens put home the winner at 11:28 of the second overtime period.

Jackson Bats Oakland Over Twins

By The Associated Press

Reggie Jackson wasn't much of a hitter until . . . Dave Boswell served up a pair of good pitches, and Dick Woodson a couple of close ones. Then the 6-foot-2, 197-pound outfielder really did his thing.

Boswell's two tosses resulted in a pair of homers by Jackson in Oakland's 6-4 victory over Minnesota Thursday; Woodson's pitches resulted in a black eye for the Twins' hurler, suffered during a brief, but furious, little bout with Jackson on the pitchers' mound.

Jackson, who took only a .146 average into the game, charged to the mound after successive pitches by the flame-throwing Woodson whizzed by and over his head in the fifth inning.

"There was a lot of velocity on those balls," said Jackson. "I was scared."

"The first pitch stunned me. He can throw so fast."

While Jackson was attempting to tackle Woodson, players from both benches streamed into the field in an attempt to separate the two fighters.

Jackson was ejected and Woodson was lifted for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the inning.

In other American League action, young Bobby Murcer hit two more homers as New York trounced Cleveland 11-3 for the Indians' 12th loss in 13 games and Baltimore won its 12th in the last 15 starts, checking Detroit 5-2 on Dave McNally's five-hitter. Washington's game at Boston was rained out. The other teams were idle.

Jackson said he "didn't want to fight" Woodson. "That's why I tackled him. I wanted to show him I meant business. I had to protect myself."

"If there were 10,000 people here today, 9,999 of them knew he was throwing at me. They wanted me out there and that's what they got. I lost my temper. I would have hit three home runs otherwise."

Tony Oliva extended his hitting streak to 12 straight games with a two-run homer off winner "Blue Moon" Odom in the fifth.

Ken Harrelson, who retired then unemployed after Boston dealt him to Cleveland, had a triple and a single in his debut as an Indian, but Yankee lefty Fritz Peterson, 2-2 yielded only four other hits.

Meanwhile, Murcer, touted as a replacement for Mickey Mantle, cracked a homer in the fifth.

after Jerry Kenney's single, then followed up in the next inning with another two-run job—his seventh of the young season.

Dick Simpson also had a three-run double for the Yankees, and Jake Gibbs had a two-run single.

Harrelson tripled in his first appearance at the plate, scoring on an infield hit by Tony Horton.

Baltimore's McNally, now 3-0, fanned seven but yielded solo homers to Dick McAuliffe and Al Kaline.

Dave Johnson had a two-run double in the seventh after Powell's double and a walk, and Powell singled home the final run in the eighth.

In the innings that Baltimore didn't score, Wilson retired the side in order.

GLADSTONE

THESE FIVE MICHIGAN YOUTHS are packing up their souvenirs to come home from Washington, D. C., after attending the 1969 National 4-H Conference which ends today. From left, Edgar Struble of Scottville, Cindy LaFleur of GGladstone, Janel Horrocks of Onaway, Angela Chaney of Cassopolis and Roger Silverthorn of Yale. Their week started with an address by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin and they visited the White House and Capitol hill and participated in a memorial service in honor of the late President Eisenhower.

Thousands Of Geese Passing

The geese are on their annual spring migration through this Mississippi Flyway area on their return to the northern nesting areas in Canada. The wedge shaped formations are being observed most readily during the early morning and evening hours.

Most of the Canada geese observed in the Escanaba area have wintered in southern Illinois and Missouri, while the blue and snow geese have wintered as far south as Louisiana, according to Richard Branzell, U.S. game agent.

Branzell recently returned from a three week enforcement patrol in North and South Dakota. The assignment consisted of meeting the peak of the goose flight on the Nebraska-South Dakota state line, and moving north each day until the flight crossed into Canada at the international boundary between North Dakota and the Province of Manitoba.

It is the responsibility of U.S. game agents to move or drift with the waterfowl during the peak migrations, moving from state to state, enforcing federal and state laws protecting migratory game birds.

Michigan University asked the Federal Communications Commission to swap it Channel 3 for Channel 13 so it could set up a wide-area U.P. educational television service. The university said it could do this much more economically and reach a larger audience with commercial Channel 3 than with a channel allocated for educational purposes.

Site Changed
NMU reported that it planned an ETV station to cost $675,000 for Channel 3 and that to reach the same audience on Channel 13 would cost three times as much. This WFRV dispute in pleadings to the FCC.

WFRV amended its original transmitter site proposal when Channel 6 at Marquette protested to the FCC that the satellite proposed for a Rumely site (between Dukes and Chatham in Alger County) would include Marquette within the city grade contour of Channel 3.

Escanaba and Gladstone get television by community cable system from American Cablevision which pays the city $6,536 yearly for pole rental, totos up a total contribution in power costs, taxes, etc., of $12,000 a year to the city, and from Delta TV Systems, which operates a translator system. The cablevision costs $4.75 a month for the first set, the translator cost is $20 for the first year and $18 for the second.

Off-the-air reception from WLUC-TV, Marquette is marginal and from the Green Bay, Wis., stations submarginal.

Begin Tower To House Elderly

An informal ground-breaking ceremony will be held at the site of the Senior Citizens Housing project in Escanaba on Wednesday afternoon, April 30, John Gannon, chairman of the Housing Commission, announced today.

The public is invited to be present at 4:30 o'clock to witness the official start of construction to provide low-cost housing for the elderly of the community.

The $2,600,000 18-story apartment tower is to be completed next year, providing housing for 176 elderly persons.

Present for the ground-breaking will be members of the Housing Commission, the City Council, Citizens Advisory Committee, senior citizens groups, project developers Rakita & Blumenfeld of Milwaukee, and the several contractors.

The tower apartment building, which will be the highest dwelling structure in Northern

The tower will be constructed in the east two-thirds of the 500 block, between Ludington St. and 1st Ave. S. The area is new being cleared of existing structures, commercial buildings and dwellings, with three homes being removed to the former court house site nearby.

Gannon said that Wednesday afternoon's ceremony will be a simple program but plans will be made for an elaborate dedication event next year.

Students Invade Faculty Club

By The Associated Press
Negro students took over a faculty club building before dawn today at Colgate University. In New York, City College remained closed for most of its 20,000 undergraduates.

Hampton Institute in Virginia was closed "for an indefinite period" by trustees Thursday, as more than a dozen campuses were hit by protests centering on racial and military issues.

About 40 members of the Association of Black Collegians entered the Colgate faculty club building at 4 a. m., the school in Hamilton, N. Y., said. They evicted a cook, her husband and at least two other persons.

A Colgate spokesman said the takeover resulted from dissatisfaction among the Negro students with what they termed administration progress toward setting up a black cultural center on campus.

At City College of New York, Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, the president, set another meeting today with Negro and Puerto Rican students who have barred whites from half the campus.

Gallagher opened negotiations at his campus home—inside the barricades—on Thursday with leaders of the 200 students. No progress was reported.

CCNY's School of Engineering held informal classes today on the unoccupied part of the campus, the first gatherings since Gallagher closed the school—the nation's largest tuition-free school—Tuesday afternoon.

Muskie Backs Midterm Issues Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward S. Muskie called today for a midterm Democratic national issues convention to adopt a party platform next summer and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy suggested conventions be held every year.

"With yearly meetings," McCarthy said, "party conventions would have less the aspect of carnivals and circuses and would concern themselves more with the serious business of directing the organization in determining the policies of the party."

Muskie, McCarthy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy all testified before the first of 16 hearings scheduled across the country by the party structure reform commission headed by Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota.

McCarthy, making his first statement on party activities since last year's presidential election, reiterated he will not ask those who supported his anti-war efforts last year to work within the Democratic party unless it adopts important changes.

"All possible steps must be taken to make certain that the next convention is truly representative of the people who choose the Democratic party as their instrument for political action," the Minnesotan said.

McCarthy also recommended the Democratic party "show its good faith" in support of the 18-year-old vote "by allowing them to participate fully in party processes . . . to have all of the rights that are currently granted party members . . ."

"A national issues convention, supplementing the nominating convention, would give our party an opportunity to demonstrate its concern with issues, its willingness to consider new ideas and its recognition that the party has more to do than select national candidates every four years," Muskie, the Maine senator who was last year's Democratic vice presidential nominee, said.

Find Coed Alive Under Leaves

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A Brigham Young University coed was found alive Thursday on a mountain east of Provo after being the subject of a two-day search by some 50 to 100 persons.

Linda M. Ballard, 23, Grand Rapids, Mich., was found under some leaves in a wash about a mile up the slope from the Utah State Mental Hospital.

Sheriff Ralph Chapple said the girl seemed to be suffering from exposure and hunger, but otherwise appeared to be in good condition.

Chapple said the coed was found by John Shelton, a BYU student who was taking part in the search.

The girl was first taken to her apartment by the sheriff's department and then taken to the BYU Health Center.

A search was begun late Tuesday when the girl failed to show up at a church play practice and attempts to locate her failed.

Chapple said the girl had gone up the mountain because personal problems were bothering her. Friends said earlier she had gone to the mountains on a number of occasions for long periods of time to meditate.

75 Millionth Car Made By Ford Co.

DEARBORN (AP)—Ford Motor Co. produced its 75 millionth U.S.-built vehicle Thursday—a blue Mustang convertible driven off the assembly plant line by entertainer Jimmy Durants.

Durante, in the area for an appearance at a casino in nearby Windsor, Ont., was 10 years old when the first Ford was hand built in a converted wagon factory in 1903 in Detroit.

Of the 75 million vehicles domestically produced to date, 61,900,000 were cars and 13,100,000 were trucks.

Thursday's diamond jubilee car came off the line almost 10 years to the day after the golden jubilee car in 1959. The company used that 1959 Galaxie to reenact the 1909 New York-to-Seattle endurance race.

The 10 millionth Ford, a 1924 Model T touring car, traveled the Lincoln Highway from New York to San Francisco.
